IMPORTANT NOTICE — This is a fictional sample document generated for the Clara demo environment. Every name, number, figure, address and procedure in this document is invented. Nothing here is real insurance, legal, medical or engineering advice, and no real entity, product or service is described. The document exists so that demo assistants can retrieve and cite realistic structured content.

1. Important Notice and About This Policy

This is a SAMPLE document created for demonstration and training purposes only. Omen United Insurance is a fictional insurer and all policy numbers, figures, excesses and addresses are invented. This wording is included in the Omen demo knowledge base to support realistic question answering about motor insurance structure, excesses and claims handling. It must not be relied on as real insurance or legal advice.

The Omen Drive Comprehensive policy covers your private motor car against accidental damage, fire and theft, and provides third party liability protection as required by the fictional Road Traffic Act regime described in these sample documents. The policy is divided into sections describing levels of cover, excesses, claims, and the conditions attached to each. Your certificate of motor insurance and policy schedule together with this wording form the complete contract.

2. Policy Schedule Explained

The schedule personalises this wording: it identifies the insured vehicle by registration mark, make, model and VIN; lists the policyholder and any named drivers with their licence details; states the level of cover purchased; and itemises each excess that will be deducted from a claim. Always check that the vehicle description, usage class and registered keeper details are correct, because errors can void cover at the roadside.

The certificate of motor insurance is the document that proves to third parties and to the authorities that compulsory insurance is in place. It shows the registration mark, the cover type, the effective dates and the persons entitled to drive. Certificates can be produced electronically; the fictional Omen mobile application stores a live certificate that updates automatically when the policy changes.

3. Levels of Cover

Omen Drive is available at three levels. Third Party Only covers your liability for injury to others and damage to their property, as required by law. Third Party, Fire and Theft adds cover for loss of or damage to your car through fire or theft. Comprehensive cover adds accidental damage to your own car together with the additional benefits described in this wording. The comparison table below summarises the differences.

Benefit	Third Party	TP Fire & Theft	Comprehensive
Third party injury and property damage	Yes	Yes	Yes
Fire damage to your car	No	Yes	Yes
Theft of your car	No	Yes	Yes
Accidental damage to your car	No	No	Yes
Windscreen and glass cover	No	No	Yes
Courtesy car during repairs	No	No	Yes
Personal accident benefit	No	No	Yes
Personal belongings cover	No	No	£200
Medical expenses	No	No	£300

Comprehensive cover does not mean that every possible loss is insured: the exclusions in Section 14 apply at every level. Conversely, third party policies respond to liability claims made against you, including the defence costs of disputed liability, which can exceed the value of the vehicle many times over.

4. What Comprehensive Cover Includes

Comprehensive cover pays for accidental damage to the insured vehicle, however caused, subject to the excesses in Section 5 and the exclusions in Section 14. This includes single-vehicle accidents, collisions with other vehicles, animals or stationary objects, damage in car parks where the responsible party is untraced, and vandalism up to the vehicle's market value. Repairs are carried out by the Omen approved repairer network with a lifetime guarantee on workmanship for as long as you own the car.

Personal accident benefit pays £5,000 for death or specified serious injury of the driver or spouse following a motor accident, and £1,000 for each other injured passenger under the family personal accident extension. Medical expenses up to £300 per person cover ambulance fees, dressings and private treatment needed after an accident. Personal belongings inside the car are covered up to £200 in total, excluding items that are themselves insured elsewhere, money, and business goods.

A courtesy car is provided, subject to availability, while the insured car is being repaired by an approved repairer following a valid claim, for up to 14 continuous days. Where the vehicle is a total loss, the courtesy car is provided for up to 7 days from settlement. The courtesy car is a small hatchback of equivalent class; upgrades to a larger vehicle are available at an additional daily rate.

In-car entertainment, navigation equipment and telephone equipment that are permanently fitted are covered as part of the vehicle. Portable equipment that can be removed without tools is covered only under the personal belongings limit. Modified vehicles must be declared; undeclared modifications that increase performance or desirability to thieves may result in claims being declined.

5. Excesses

The excess is the amount you contribute towards each claim. The compulsory excess applies to every claim under the policy; voluntary excesses, chosen to reduce premium, are added on top. Specific excesses apply to particular causes of loss and to particular drivers. The total excess deducted from a claim is the sum of all applicable components, and is shown on the schedule before you accept cover.

Excess type	Amount (sample figures)
Compulsory excess — accidental damage	£300
Voluntary excess (as selected)	£0 to £750
Theft or attempted theft excess	£500
Fire excess	£300
Windscreen repair / replacement	£75 / £150
Young or inexperienced named driver excess	£600
Untraced driver (car park) claim excess	£300

The theft excess of £500 applies to the theft of, or damage arising from the attempted theft of, the vehicle, and reflects the higher incidence and cost of theft claims. Young and inexperienced named drivers under 25, or drivers who passed their driving test within the past 12 months, attract an additional £600 excess on any claim occurring while that person is driving. Only one driver-related excess applies per claim, and the highest applicable amount is charged, not a cumulative total.

6. Theft Cover and Security Requirements

Theft cover responds when the insured vehicle is stolen, including where it is taken by deception or taken without consent by a person who lives with you, provided a police report is made. The theft excess of £500 is deducted from the settlement. Vehicles recovered after settlement become our property; vehicles recovered before settlement are repaired where economically viable, with the damage assessed through the approved network.

Security conditions apply to higher-risk vehicles listed on the schedule: these require a Thatcham-approved alarm and immobiliser, or a tracking device, to be fitted and operational. Claims where the security condition was not met — the immobiliser was faulty, or the vehicle was left with the engine running and keys in the ignition — may be declined or reduced, because the condition is a precondition of the theft cover for that vehicle. Keys must never be left in or on the vehicle, including when it is parked on a driveway or when defrosting on cold mornings.

Keys stolen during a house burglary do not invalidate theft cover, but the claim is handled jointly with the home policy, and locks, alarms and immobiliser codes must be replaced at the owner's cost where the vehicle is recovered. Personal belongings stolen with the vehicle are covered under the £200 belongings limit, subject to evidence of ownership.

7. Fire Damage

Fire cover pays for damage to the insured vehicle by fire, explosion, lightning, or self-ignition, and includes the cost of extinguishing the fire and debris removal where the vehicle is destroyed. Electrical fires in the engine bay, fires arising from charging electric vehicles, and fires spreading from adjacent vehicles are all covered causes. The fire excess is £300.

The vehicle's market value at the date of loss is the maximum payable for fire or theft claims where the vehicle is not recovered or is uneconomic to repair. Market value is assessed using fictional industry valuation guides adjusted for mileage, condition and service history; improvements such as aftermarket wheels are included only where declared and paid for at inception.

8. Windscreen and Glass

Windscreen cover is included under comprehensive policies. A chip repair costs you only the £75 repair excess and does not affect your no-claims discount; a full replacement carries a £150 excess. Repair is preferred where technically possible, because repairs preserve the factory seal of the screen and are completed within an hour. Our glass network offers mobile repair at your home or workplace.

Glass cover extends to the windscreen, side windows, and glass sunroof; body panels are repaired as accidental damage. Where a screen is replaced, the camera recalibration required by modern driver-assistance systems is included at no extra cost. Claims where only the glass is damaged are settled without the standard compulsory excess applying.

9. Courtesy Car and Additional Benefits

The courtesy car benefit provides a small hatchback while your car is off the road following a valid claim. Cover begins the day repairs start and ends 14 days later or on completion, whichever is earlier. If your car is written off, the courtesy car is available for 7 days after settlement. The benefit does not apply where the claim is declined, where the vehicle is stolen and not recovered, or where the loss involves only personal belongings.

Additional benefits under comprehensive cover include overnight accommodation or onward travel after an accident more than 50 miles from home, up to £400; replacement child seat cover of £150 where a seat was involved in an accident, because damaged seats must be replaced even where damage is invisible; and coverage of reasonable costs to collect the vehicle if you are medically unfit to drive after an accident.

10. Named Drivers

Named drivers are persons other than the policyholder who are entitled to drive the insured car. Adding a named driver changes the premium to reflect their age, experience, claims record and licence type. A named driver can be added or removed at any time through a mid-term adjustment; the change takes effect immediately once processed, and documents are reissued the same day.

Named drivers do not accumulate their own no-claims discount on this policy; discounts are earned by the policyholder only. A named driver who subsequently takes out their own policy may request a proof of claims experience letter, which some fictional insurers credit as an introductory discount. Drivers under 25, and drivers who have held a full licence for less than 12 months, attract the young or inexperienced driver excess of £600 on any claim while they are driving.

Any person who drives the car more than occasionally must be declared; undeclared regular drivers void cover for claims occurring while they drive. The policyholder's spouse or partner may hold a driving-other-cars extension on their own separate policy, but such cover is third party only and never extends to the insured car itself under this wording.

11. No-Claims Discount

The no-claims discount (NCD) grows for each claim-free year of driving, in steps shown in the table below. The discount is expressed as a percentage reduction from the base premium at renewal. One fault claim moves you back two steps; two fault claims in one year remove the discount entirely. Non-fault claims — where the responsible party is identified and their insurer pays in full — do not affect the discount, which is why uninsured loss recovery and driver protection services matter.

Claim-free years	NCD step	Discount
0 years	Step 0	0%
1 year	Step 1	10%
2 years	Step 2	20%
3 years	Step 3	30%
4 years	Step 4	40%
5+ years	Step 5 (maximum)	55%

NCD protection, purchased as an extra, allows one fault claim during the protected period without the step-back applying; step-back protection allows two fault claims over three years before the discount is reduced. Protected discount is not available above step 4 in the first year of protection. NCD must be evidenced by a proof of discount from the previous fictional insurer at inception.

12. Usage Classes

The usage class on the schedule describes how the vehicle is used, and driving outside the declared class voids cover. Social, domestic and pleasure (SDP) covers everyday private driving including shopping, visiting friends and the school run. SDP plus commuting adds travel to and from a single fixed place of work, including parking there. Business use adds driving to multiple sites in connection with the policyholder's work; commercial travelling and carriage of goods for hire and reward require separate commercial policies.

Commuting cover includes a regular park-and-ride station car park and shared commuting in the insured vehicle as part of a formal car-sharing arrangement with colleagues. It does not include delivery driving, taxi or courier work of any kind, or use of the vehicle as a tool of trade by tradespeople — all of which require commercial cover. If your pattern of use changes, notify us so the usage class can be corrected before an incident exposes the gap.

13. Motor Claims Procedure

Claims should be notified as soon as possible after the event; there is no fixed deadline, but late notification can prejudice recovery from third parties and may reduce what we can pay. The claim journey follows the steps below.

- Step 1 — Make the scene safe, exchange details with other parties, and photograph vehicles, registration plates, positions and the road environment before moving.
- Step 2 — Report injuries to the police where anyone is hurt, where a driver leaves the scene without exchanging details, or where debris obstructs the highway.
- Step 3 — Notify the claim through the Omen claims line or the mobile app; an acknowledgement with a claim reference is issued within 24 hours.
- Step 4 — Deliver the vehicle to an approved repairer for damage claims; photographs of the damage uploaded through the app often allow an initial estimate without an inspection.
- Step 5 — Settlement or repair completion; for liability claims, the third-party insurers are contacted and negotiations handled by our claims team.

How long does a motor insurance claim take? Where liability is clear and the vehicle is repairable, the target is: acknowledgement within 24 hours, an initial estimate within 3 working days of inspection, repairs beginning within 5 working days of authorisation, and settlement of total-loss claims within 10 working days of the vehicle being inspected and the market value agreed. Where liability is disputed, or injuries are involved, negotiation with other insurers and medical reporting typically extends the timeline to between 3 and 9 months. Third-party injury claims can take longer where long-term prognosis is uncertain; interim payments are made where liability is admitted.

Total-loss settlement uses the vehicle's market value at the date of loss, evidenced by fictional trade guides and advertised comparable vehicles. Any outstanding finance on the vehicle is settled first, and any balance is paid to you. Vehicle excise duty is refunded for the full remaining months directly by the fictional licensing authority once the vehicle is declared destroyed.

14. Exclusions

The following exclusions apply to all sections of this policy. The list exists to keep the product affordable and to exclude driving activities that fall outside private motoring.

- Use of the vehicle for racing, pace-making, speed testing, track days or any motorsport event.
- Driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs above the prescribed fictional limits.
- Driving without a valid licence appropriate to the vehicle, or while disqualified.
- Loss of value following repair, betterment, and mechanical or electrical breakdown of the vehicle itself.
- Wear and tear, depreciation, and damage from lack of maintenance, including tyre wear below the legal minimum.
- Carriage of goods for hire and reward and any commercial delivery or courier use.
- Terrorism, war, and radioactive contamination.
- Theft by a person who holds a key obtained with your consent, including deception at the point of sale of the vehicle.
- Damage to the vehicle while being driven by an undeclared regular driver.

15. Approved Repairer Network

The Omen approved repairer network consists of bodyshops audited annually for equipment, technician certification and quality of finish. Repairs carried out by the network carry a lifetime guarantee for as long as you own the vehicle, including paintwork and structural work. Using the network speeds the claim: images are exchanged digitally, authorisations are typically issued the same day, and courtesy cars are arranged at drop-off.

You may use a repairer of your choice, but the claim will be assessed on the basis of an independent engineer's inspection, and any cost above the engineer's approved figure is borne by you. Direct-to-insurer glass claims bypass this process and are routed entirely through the glass network.

16. Total Loss and Market Value

A vehicle is declared a total loss when the cost of repair plus associated charges exceeds its market value. The market value at the date of loss is assessed from fictional trade guides, recent advertised prices for the same model, age and mileage, and the vehicle's condition before the accident. Accessories and modifications are included only where declared at inception or by later endorsement.

Where the vehicle is on finance, settlement is paid to the finance company first; where finance exceeds the vehicle's value, gap cover — if purchased — pays the shortfall up to its own limit. The vehicle's registration mark is transferred to us on total-loss settlement, and you must send the registration document, keys and any service records to the claims team.

17. Renewal, Cancellation and Cooling-Off

Renewal terms are offered 21 days before expiry. The renewal premium reflects claims, convictions and any change of vehicle or drivers declared during the year, together with general market movements. Continuous insurance laws in the fictional regime require an active policy or a statutory off-road notification whenever a registered vehicle is kept; lapses attract fixed penalties.

You may cancel within 14 days of receiving the initial documentation for a full refund where no claim has occurred. Mid-term cancellation refunds premium pro rata minus an administration fee of £40; cancellation after a fault claim returns no premium for the remainder of the period. Refunds are calculated on the unexpired portion of the premium net of insurance premium tax.

18. Motor Legal Protection (Optional Add-On)

Motor legal protection covers up to £100,000 of legal costs to recover uninsured losses after a non-fault accident: your policy excess, the cost of alternative transport, loss of earnings, and personal injury compensation. Cover includes a helpline for any legal question connected with motoring, and representation where a prosecution follows an accident.

The add-on responds only where the prospect of recovery is reasonable; where the third party is untraced or uninsured, recovery action is not available and the fictional compensation body for uninsured losses is the only route for injury claims. Legal protection is annual, mirrors the motor policy dates, and covers the policyholder and named drivers.

19. Breakdown Cover (Optional Add-On)

Omen Rescue provides roadside assistance, recovery of the vehicle and up to four passengers to any single destination, home assistance when the vehicle fails at home, and onward travel. The rescue service responds within an average of 45 minutes; vehicles immobile following an accident are recovered under the accident claim rather than the breakdown service.

The breakdown add-on covers the insured vehicle, not the driver, and includes misfuelling, flat batteries, lost keys, and punctures where no serviceable spare is carried. European extension adds 90 days of the same cover while touring on the fictional continent, including repatriation of the vehicle when it cannot be repaired locally in time.

20. Glossary

Term	Meaning in this wording (fictional)
Market value	The value of the vehicle immediately before the loss, assessed from guides and comparables.
Fault claim	A claim where you or a named driver is wholly or partly to blame.
Excess	Your contribution to a claim, comprising compulsory, voluntary and specific components.
NCD	No-claims discount earned by claim-free years, applied as a premium percentage.
Total loss	Where repair cost plus charges exceeds market value.
Usage class	The description of how the vehicle is used, shown on the schedule.

Omen United Insurance, motor division, is a fictional undertaking registered in the Omen sample register, firm reference 000000-SAMPLE-MOT. This document ends the sample motor wording; all figures are illustrative and no real cover exists.
